

LJISD Technology Teacher Academy (T.O.T.)

August 7, 8, 9, 2017

Looking for:

Outstanding educators with a passion for using innovative technologies and approaches to improve teaching and learning.

Applications are now being accepted for Apple and Google Teacher Academy (T.O.T.). Access link below for application. (Principal approval and support required.) Participants will receive 18 hours of TEP time credit and a device.

SAMR Model study will be part of academy. APPLY NOW!

URL Link / QR Code for application

<https://goo.gl/yIOXcy>

Through this hands-on academy, La Joya ISD's Apple Distinguished Educator will show teachers how to integrate Apple products into the curriculum and overall student environment for a richer learning – and teaching – experience. Participants will learn features of the MacBook Pro as well as how to create content via apps, iTunes U, iBooks Author, iMovie, iPhoto, and GarageBand.

Tools like GSuite, Google Classroom, Chromebooks with Google Play for Education use the web to capture students' imaginations and inspire their curiosity. La Joya ISD's Google Certified Educator will provide hands-on experiences with Google tools as well as innovative instructional strategies to build a digital classroom.

Deadline: May 12, 2017

"The new 21st century learners are sitting in your classrooms, ready to explore, design, and create. If you provide the resources and transform their mindsets, powerful and effective technology integration will follow."

"A new mindset of teaching through technology must emerge, which depends on a vital shift in teacher/student roles."